

Dear Sirs: Please do not implement any proposals which will weaken Indiana's Telephone Privacy Laws. At the most, make any proposal a minimum which would allow state law to be more stringent. Prior to Indiana law passing, we had at least 6 to 8 calls every evening. It became such a nuisance, I started using the answering machine and also subscribed to called ID just to screen the calls. Since the Indiana law was enacted, these calls have stopped. At present we can sit down for our evening meal and spend family time together without constantly having the phone ring. Please do not put us back into the situation that existed before. Thank You
